

CASA SAN PABLO

A HOME AWAY FROM HOME

Rooted in the Filipino value of hospitality, Boots Alcantara, owner of Casa San Pablo, takes pride in the intimate ambiance inside this local bed and breakfast. As a gateway to the different cultural, historical and natural destinations in Laguna, Quezon and Batangas—collectively known as “Viaje del Sol”—this inn’s unique character and welcoming atmosphere enriches the traveler’s experience of Southern Luzon.

In the 1900s, the land area of Casa San Pablo was a coconut plantation of Laguna’s Gomez clan. By the 1930s, it was inherited by Sinifrosa “Inay” Azores Gomez, who turned the lot into a family rest house for husband Pepe Gomez. The place was later on opened to the public; they had all-day access to a big swimming pool with a slide for a minimum fee of PhP60. Apty called Kay Inay Resort, as many as 500 guests a day would take a dip in the pool. This scenario gave birth to the idea of expanding the area for overnight accommodations—a responsibility taken by Inay’s eldest grandson, Boots.

With his interest in art and antique collection, Mr. Alcantara collaborated with ceramic artist-potter Ugu Bigyan to build the first rooms of Casa San Pablo. They transported—piece by piece—the old houses they bought from Tiaong, Quezon to San Pablo, Laguna.

The service of the trained household helpers of the Gomezes, plus servings of familiar Filipino household delicacies, make a stay in the Gomez compound feel like a stay in the house of a relative or an old friend.

Mr. Alcantara says that he wants Casa San Pablo to make people “fall in love with Laguna,” and the charming bed and breakfast does just that.
